Brief Bio: Kevin oversees fleet maintenance data for over 100 ships and develops products that support the fleet and the warfighters. He graduated from Cal Poly Pomona in 2021 with a Bachelor's degree in Aerospace Engineering where he was part of a 2-stage Rocketry team and Project Manager for a Particle Image Velocimetry senior project where he used high powered lasers to measure the velocity inside of a wind tunnel. Kevin was also on a team that placed 2nd in an international spacecraft design competition that was tasked with creating a mission concept designed to bring ice samples back from Mars. Kevin grew up in Corona his entire life and hopes to have a long career in engineering."
