VII. ASNC Advisor Report

Dr. Romero- Late due to the equity summit that was taking place.

The idea behind equity is to make sure all students are successful. For example, those in the program of men of color are a prime example of an equity program to support students of different ethnicities.

Programs such as the textbook loan, eid event, and even the underlying programs at school.

Lots of success lately. When ASNC does well, clubs and organizations do well.

Friday before spring break, there will typically be no Senate meeting. By Monday if there is nothing on the agenda, there will be no Senate.

The student trustee position is now open. The student trustee is a representative of students across the district.

Cannot be a student trustee and in ASNC.

Norco College student has been picked to be the student trustee for the past 3 years in a row.

Student trustees must attend trustee board meetings which are twice every month in the afternoons.

The student trustee position is a big ask but looks very good on applications.

ASNC applications are open but will be closing shortly after spring break.

Make note of when new applications come in, having a stagnated array of streamlined dating.

Took down the ASNC senator application on Instagram to clear any missadvertisement.

VIII. Executive/Committee Reports

Muzzamil-Eid was well done, and attendance was really well. Make it a habit to double-check Discord because it is the main source of communication. Fix the roles for the events and the soccer game is at 3:00 PM

Haroun- Budget updated. The finance team will look over next week's budget. Clubs will be coming in expecting money in the next couple of weeks.

Zayad-Well attended the event and talked about the attendance policy. There were many people in one specific role. Implementing an idea where they spread the people for the events to maximize efficiency. Nomu will be coming soon and be well prepared. Representation is important.

Dilraj-Next week Abigail, Haroun, and Dilraj will be shooting a video with Byran Thomsan. The video will illustrate the joys of attending Norco College. Hussam is working on flyers to be approved by Dr.Romero. Content on Instagram has been increasing and has promoted ASNC in a positive light. Has taken negative comments to maximize the efficiency of the development of content.

Cheryl- Advertising for flag football. April 19th applications from coach Agullar.

Yusuf: Committee meeting next week, possible updates next week. Cherla will be having a retreat next week, next week we will be provided with information from the retreat.
