

What can I do with this major?

COMMUNICATION STUDIES

Occupational Outlook

The Bureau of Labor Statistics can help you find career information on duties, education and training, pay, and outlook.

Interpreters and Translators

Adult Literacy and GED Teacher

Kindergarten and Elementary School Teachers

Postsecondary Teachers

Flight Attendants

Professional Associations

These organizations are one of the best places you can go to build networks, set up informational interviews, connect with mentors, get internships, earn scholarships and find jobs in your career field.

Public Relations Society of America

National Association of Broadcasters

Magazine Publishers of America

American Society of Newspaper Editors

National Communication Association

International Communication Association

International Association of Business Communicators

American Advertising Federation

Career Information

Websites to help you dig deeper into careers in Communications

Communications-Major: Includes resources that go in-depth with careers, degrees and salaries in the field.

Journalism Degree Career Information: In-depth look at the various types of degrees available for communications and journalism majors.

Freelance Writing: Job site for freelance writers.

Job Postings

Find Your Career!

NC Connect

Newspaper Careers

TV Jobs Broadcast Employment Services

Directory / Employment Opportunities

PR JobForce

Communications

