

What can I do with this major?

Mathematics

Occupational Outlook

The Bureau of Labor Statistics can help you find career information on duties, education and training, pay, and outlook.

- Mathematicians
- Actuaries
- Statisticians
- Postsecondary Teachers
- Kindergarten and Elementary School Teachers
- Computer Systems Analysts
- Computer Programmers
- Network and Computer Systems Administrators

Professional Associations

These organizations are one of the best places you can go to build networks, set up informational interviews, connect with mentors, get internships, earn scholarships and find jobs in your career field.

Society for Industrial and Applied Mathematics

American Mathematical Society

National Council of Teachers in Mathematics

Mathematical Association of America

Career Information

Websites to help you dig deeper into careers in Mathematics

Careers for Women in Mathematics: Features programs, prizes and grants in the mathematical sciences.

Careers and Employment Resources for Students in Mathematics: Includes career profiles.

American Mathematical Society Resources for Undergraduates in Mathematics: News and information for high school & undergraduate students of math.

Be an Actuary: Includes in-depth educational and career resources for students interested in becoming an actuary.

Professional Science Masters: New graduate degree designed to combine advanced training in science or mathematics

Math on the Job: Math Resources for Career and Technical Education focusing on how math is used by specific technical careers.

We Use Math: This website describes the importance of mathematics and many rewarding career opportunities available to students who study mathematics.

Job Postings

Find Your Career!

Mustang Career Connection

PhDs.org

Math-Jobs

