

Student Services Program Review Data

Spring 2012
Norco College

Jaime Rodriguez
Specialist, Institutional Research

The purpose of this report is to show the demographic background, success rates, and persistence of students that participate in student services at Norco College.

Spring 2012 was the term used to examine demographic background data (gender and ethnicity¹)² and success rates. The persistence data examines the persistence³ of students from Spring 2011 to Spring 2012 and Fall 2011 to Spring 2012.

Referential files were used to obtain the data included in this report. Students that received a grade of a “UG” (ungraded) were excluded from the data used for this study.

Success is a grade of A, B, C, or P. The success rates were obtained by dividing the number of successful grades by the total number of grades obtained by students (successful and non-successful).⁴ Only students that enrolled and received a grade were included in the data for this report.

Students that completed a degree or certificate between February 1st 2000 and June 12th 2012 were excluded from the data used to develop the persistence numbers (Spring 2011 to Spring 2012 and Fall 2011 to Spring 2012).⁵

“Unknown/non-respondent” students (in terms of gender) were excluded from the data used to develop the demographic numbers, but were still included in the data used to create the success rates and persistence numbers.

The data used to create the demographic numbers for the student service programs is restricted to students that only enrolled at Norco College. The success rates and persistence numbers for the student service programs was obtained from district enrollment data in which students could have enrolled at any of the three colleges. Finally, any Norco College data in any of the sections of the report is restricted to students that only enrolled at Norco College.

¹ In terms of ethnicity, “Other” students consist of those who identified themselves as Native Hawaiian, Pacific Islander, Two or more races, or that were unknown/non-respondent.

² This applies to all the student services sections in this report.

³ SSS Rise student records were only available for Fall 2011, so there was only one persistence table and chart created for SSS Rise section (Fall 2011 to Spring 2012).

⁴ A small number of duplicate records were found in the data used to develop success rates. The duplicate records were excluded from the data used for this study.

⁵ This applies to both the student service program numbers and the Norco College numbers

Appendix

A.

The tables below include the counts of student records that were provided by the different student services at Norco College. When we matched these records with institutional data (from the Department of Institutional Research) we did not obtain a perfect one-to-one match. The tables include the number of records remaining after we matched Student Services program data with the institutional data, the difference between both sets of data, and the percentage of matches.

For section A, there are two types of tables: Norco College tables and District tables (all three colleges). The Norco College tables show the number of matches based on Norco College enrollments only. The District tables show the number of matches based on district enrollments (all three colleges).

Some of the numbers below will be different when compared to the previous report (Fall 2011) since more recent data was used to develop this report.

B.

The tables below show the number of students that were excluded from the persistence data in this report (Spring 2011 to Spring 2012 and Fall 2011 to Spring 2012) since they obtained a degree/certificate between February 1st 2000 and June 12th 2012.¹⁶

The students that received a certificate/degree between February 1st 2000 and June 12th 2012 in the Spring 2012 cohort were not excluded from any persistence data since this report did not examine any data beyond Spring 2012.

For section B, there are two types of tables: Norco College tables and District tables (all three colleges). The Norco College tables show the number of matches based on Norco College enrollments only. The District tables show the number of matches based on district enrollments (all three colleges).
