Norco College - The First 25 Years

“Western Round-up”

Norco IMC invites you to take a look back to November 13, 1993 when Norco College held its first annual Western Round-up. YEEHAW!

Norco's Associated Students, led by math professor & student activities coordinator Bob Prior, invited the community for an afternoon of cowboy fun.

There was live music, a petting zoo, folklorico dancers, Sherman Indian Dancers, equestrian drill teams, pony rides, exhibits and booths from NorcoCollege clubs such as the Art Club, Writers Club, and Business Leaders of Tomorrow. Students wore colorful attire and costumes as they worked their booths.

A highlight of the event was Native American actor Iron Eyes Cody, who posed for pictures and signed autographs. He was a veteran of movies and television.

About 1,500 people attended the round-up at Norco College.
